

Greyhound Staff Sponsors Four Year Scholarship Fund Campaign

Winner Will Enter Loyola's Next Freshman Class

Deadline For Drive Set For May 28th;
Support Of Alumni And Friends Urged

With the advent of this issue, THE GREYHOUND is launching a campaign among the alumni and friends of Loyola College for the establishment of a full four-year scholarship valued at $800. This goal is to be reached by May 28th of this year. THE GREYHOUND staff will announce the progress of the drive in future issues, and will speak in behalf of this cause at a gathering of the alumni in the near future.

Pressing Need

The college catalogue cites Loyola's principle needs as follows: 1—Scholarships, founded or annual. 2—An Endowment Fund. 3—An Administration Building and Auditorium. 4—A New Chapel. The war has brought many changes to Evergreen; changes that come down to meaning a putting of "first things first." Our country needs young men as officers in its army who have been trained at colleges like Loyola to think! Our alumni and friends can do much to that end by helping establish a full scholarship for at least one deserving high school graduate.

Extension of Plans

Depending upon the success of this drive rest the hopes of establishing a permanent full scholarship.

ship. The foundation of such a scholarship requires the sum of six thousand dollars. At the present time there are very few such scholarships in existence at Loyola College. But, for the present, the alumni and friends of Loyola are urged to get behind this campaign to raise $800 by May 28, 1943. There can be no greater service rendered one's Alma Mater than to help provide a college training for a young man who may possess the necessary abilities, but lacks the financial means. The war will be won by armies that have for their leaders educated men. One such man may well swing the tide of a major battle—but he must first get the education.

FR. YEDDANAPALLI, NOTED INDIAN JESUIT, TO HOLD NOVENA SERVICES

The annual Novena of Grace in honor of Saint Francis Xavier, starting on March 4th and lasting through March 12th, will be conducted at Loyola, this year, by the Rev. Lourin Marianna Yeddapanalli, S. J.

A Noted Scientist

Father Yeddapanalli was born near Madras, India, a city in the heart of Xavier's missionary lands. His people were converted and continued in the faith through the efforts of the Society of Jesus. This famous Indian Jesuit, a noted scientist, received his education at St. Joseph's College, Madras, a Jesuit institution, and was ordained in 1935 after completing his Theology at the University of Louvain, Belgium. He studied the sciences at the University of Calcutta and has just received his Ph.D. in chemistry from Princeton. His world travels have given him a speaking knowledge of English, French and German. He speaks as well three Indian languages. But in addition to this cultural background, Father Yeddapanalli will bring to the Novena a real knowledge and understanding of the locale and people among whom Saint Francis labored. His comments during the Novena, based on his Indian background and appreciation of Xavier's work should make this year's devotion one of the most interesting of recent years. Father Yeddapanalli is determined to devote his life's energies to the millions of his native India and he possesses, as do many of his compatriots, a heartfelt gratitude for the gift of faith, given them by Xavier.

Many Cures Wrought

The Novena of Grace is held annually in honor of Saint Francis Xavier, the Apostle of the Indies. Xavier left his native Navarre in 1540 and went into the Orient. He lived out his life in these lands, bringing thousands to the love of Christ.

This Novena was popularized in America through the efforts of Father Francis Brady, S. J., of Saint Ignatius Church, Baltimore, about thirty years ago. It has since spread all over the country. A great following has grown around this devotion to Saint Francis, due mainly to a great number of miraculous cures and fulfilled intentions.

Chemistry, Math War Courses Inaugurated

Will Supplement Loyola's Accelerated Program

Four new courses have been added to the curriculum since the beginning of the new term, but because of the burden already imposed upon students by the accelerated course, numbers have been restricted to students with good scholastic records. The first of these courses taught by Mr. Vincent Beatty, S. J., is on Military Chemistry, open to all who have completed one year of Inorganic Chemistry. Mr. Beatty will use a book recently published by the Chemical Warfare Service. It deals with a study of poison gases, their uses and effectiveness, and in general with the place that chemistry has in the war.

Dr. Celaurio Hies Math

The second course taught by Dr. Celaurio is on Theoretical Mechanics and is open to all advanced mathematics students. Its purpose is to bridge the gap between Mathematics and Physics by employing methods of higher Mathematics in the solution of physical problems.

Yet another course has been started by Father Joseph Ayl, S. J., on War Economy and Sociology. It will be a general course on the theory of national economies as directly connected with the war. The course will treat of the various ways that production and distribution of goods, purchasing power, man-power, etc., have been affected by the present war.

The last of the new courses offered is on Government and International Relations and is to be given by Dr. Berger.

Two Alumni Pass CPA Exam

Two graduates of Loyola College have successfully passed an examination given by the State Board of Examiners of Public Accountants. The test was given during last November. The graduates will be recommended to Governor Herbert R. O'Connor for the degree of certified public accountants.

Heifrich and Byer Make Grade

The graduates were Ensign John V. F. Heifrich, Jr., U.S.N.R., '42 and Frank P. Dyer, '36. Ensign Heifrich won the distinction of being elected to Alpha Sigma Nu, Jesuit Honor Society at Loyola and columned COLD SPRING MURMURS for THE GREYHOUND. Heifrich ranked high scholastically in his class.

Raymond Gram Swing's Talk Highlights Commencement

RECORD CROWD THRONGS GYM FOR CEREMONIES ON SUNDAY, JAN. 31ST

Loyola's ninety-first annual commencement was held in the college gymnasium, Sunday afternoon, January 31, 1943. This was the first mid-term graduation under the college's new accelerated program. The gymnasium was packed for the ceremony. Seventy-two graduates received their degrees.

Mr. Raymond Gram Swing, noted news commentator and analyst, delivered the address to the graduates. Mr. Swing emphasized the need for the continuation of the liberal arts colleges. He declared that without men trained in the liberal arts this nation will be severely handicapped in planning for civilized life in the post-war world.

Futtee Gorman Unable To Attend

An Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree was conferred upon the Rev. Lawrence C. Gorman, S. J., former dean of Loyola, for conspicuous service rendered to the college. The degree was given in absentia as Father Gorman's duties as president of Georgetown University prevented his attendance at the commencement exercises.

The Carroll Medal was received by Dr. John A. O'Connor of the class of 1918. Mr. J. Edwin Murphy, '93, Mr. W. Seton Bell, '93 and Mr. Albert B. Hoen, '93, received Golden Jubilee Medals. However, neither Mr. Murphy nor Mr. Bell were able to attend due to illness.

G. W. McManus Honor Man

George W. McManus, Jr., honor man of the class, was valedictorian. He delivered a forceful address on "The College Students and the Peace."

Mr. McManus was awarded the Murphy Gold Medal, founded by John Murphy for the highest yearly average in senior Religion, and the Whelan Gold Medal, founded by Thomas A. Whelan, for the highest yearly average in Ethics. Herbert R. O'Connor, Jr., received the Lee Oratorical Medal. The sociology premium was awarded to McManus and Frank E. Horka ex aequo. Greyhound and Student Council pins were also given to several members of the class for outstanding work in those organizations.

The music for the processional and recessional was played by the Loyola College orchestra. The College Glee Club sang the "Alma Mater Loyola."

An Open Letter To All Loyola Alumni

DEAR ALUMNI:

If you feel that you still have a share in Loyola's activities; if you feel you could do just a little more to help the war effort; if you'd like the pleasure and satisfaction of helping some lad up the ladder to success, a lad less fortunate perhaps than you were, then please read on. We know you're rather busy these days, but we'll only take a moment of your time.

As you probably know from reading the headlines and article on the front page, The Greyhound is sponsoring a scholarship drive. In a word, it's our aim and purpose to be able to hand a man an education at the beginning of the next semester, June 30th.

What prompted us to take this step? Well, we figure that The Greyhound, as a college paper, and as a Loyola student activity should do something tangible, something concrete for the college, and at the same time, do our bit for the war effort.

Now the first reason is quite obvious, that is—helping Loyola by giving her a scholarship. But the second reason, a help to the war effort, may need some clarification. You see, both the Army and the Navy want a man to get as much education as possible before entering the armed services. In the press, on the radio, from the lecture platform they have stated time and time again that the colleges are their chief pool for officer material. And so in addition to helping Loyola and benefiting the particular individual, our scholarship will prepare a man as a potential officer for the services.

Now just where do you come in?

Frankly, we're depending primarily on you to finance this venture. Not on you alone, but on you and the 1799 other alumni to whom this paper is sent.

And we think we're justified in approaching you. The successful man you are today is due in great part to Loyola, and the training you received there.

We feel that the least way in which you can show your gratitude is by helping some other man receive the advantages and benefits of Jesuit education, the way you did. And it ties in with the war effort.

Now we're quite ready to admit that you're paying out money right and left these days with war bonds, income taxes and victory taxes all putting a strain on your bank accounts. But we're not asking for any terrific amount from you. All we want is fifty cents, a little more than the cost of three packs of cigarettes. If all 1800 of you come through with that amount, we'd reach our goal in no time. More if you will, but at least fifty cents.

The drive ends May 28th. But don't wait until the last minute. As soon as you've finished reading this, write us a letter including your contribution. Just mail it to Harold A. Molz, Editor of The Greyhound, Loyola College.

Loyola is counting on you; the Armed Services are counting on you; some unknown boy now in high school is depending upon you; we of The Greyhound Staff are appealing to you. DON'T LET ANY OF US DOWN!

(Signed)

Harold A. Molz, Editor.

News In Brief

Rev. Thomas P. Ward, S. J., conducted a day of recollection for the Womens' Retreat League of Baltimore at Notre Dame College on Sunday, February 14th.

A collection of books dealing with international and current affairs will be shelved together at a convenient point in the library. These books are donated by the Carnegie grant and will be allowed to circulate.

Twenty new students comprise the first freshman class to enter Loyola in February.

Cadet Robert L. Bump, ex '43, is awaiting assignment to ship duty at the Merchant Marine Academy located at Kings Point, Long Island.

Philip A. Kernan, '39, was recently promoted to the rank of Lieutenant, Senior Grade.

William A. Judge, '43, has been elected editor-in-chief of the annual Evergreen by the senior class.

Cadet Charles McCollum, ex '43, has completed his pre-flight training at Athens, Georgia. Cadet McCollum has reported to the naval flight base at Dallas, Texas.

The engagement of Miss Margaret Dalger to Edmund J. McGraw, '43, was recently announced. Congratulations, Ed!

Ensign Eugene E. Bracken, '41, visits the campus frequently as he is stationed in Washington, D. C.

Ensign Earl J. Schmitt, '42, and Ensign Rene Gunning, '42, visited the campus last month. Ensign Schmitt graduated from the Naval Supply School at Harvard and Ensign Gunning from the Naval Communications School at Harvard.

BATHON HEADS SENIORS; CLUBS ELECT OFFICERS

Senior Class Elections

President: Daniel Bathon.
Vice-President: Merton Manzer.
Secretary: Harry Chase.
Treasurer: Michael Sullivan.

Sodality News

Daniel Bathon, of the Senior Class, was just elected the new Prefect of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Gerard Connolly will serve as Vice-Prefect. As yet no Juniors have been elected, although a plan is under way to combine the Junior and Senior Sodalities.

IRC Club

Edwin T. Steffy, of the new Senior Class, was elected Chairman of the International Relations Club, and James E. Hicks was named Secretary. The new President announced that joint meetings will be held in the near future with Mt. St. Agnes, Notre Dame and Hopkins. The club plans to attend a special United Nations Conference at Hamilton College in Clinton, New York, March 18th to 20th.

Glee Club

At a recent meeting of the Glee Club, Charles Strickroth was voted President; Thaddeus Slwinski, Secretary, and Paul Humer, Librarian of the Club. The new President then announced that rehearsals will be postponed temporarily due to present conditions.

Orchestra

The Loyola Instrumental Ensemble, directed by the Rev. John J. Hacker, S. J., made its third and most impressive appearance of the year at the Commencement exercises, January 31st, playing Mendelssohn's War March from "Athalia", and the Coronation March.

Members of the organization in their recent election named William Auer, President, Strickroth, Silverstein and Tiedemann were voted Secretary, Treasurer and Librarian, respectively.

Senior Debating

The Bellarmine Debating Society members elected Paul Connolly as President for the coming year; William Davis was chosen Secretary.

Jenkins Debating

The recent meeting of the Jenkins Debaters with representatives of the Hopkins Debating Council was judged a success. Debates are also scheduled with the Freshmen of Notre Dame of Maryland College, Gettysburg College and before the Knights of Columbus here in Baltimore. A return engagement with Hopkins over a local radio station is planned for the near future.

Chemistry Club

Members of the Chemistry Club selected Jack Woytowicz to head their group during the coming months. Thomas Eble was elected Vice-President and George Smith, Secretary.

Math Club

The Math Club elected Richard Molloy, President, at a recent special meeting. Charles Lerch was elected the club Vice-President; William Wright, Treasurer, and Charles V. Bitterli, Secretary.

Accounting Club

Loyola College Accounting Club elected its new officers. Michael Sullivan, of the Senior Class, was named President. Patrick Coughlin was chosen Vice-President, with the Treasurer's post going to Dan Bathon. Melvin Smith will be the new Secretary. Messrs. Bathon, Sweeney, Steffy, Walker and Anderson of the Senior Class; Vitello, Coughlin, Gittings and Brocato of the Junior Class; Custy and Smith of the Sophomores constitute the Board of Directors.

History Academy

Robert E. Chartrand heads the History Academy this year with Harold A. Molz as Vice-President, and Wm. S. Davis, Secretary.

Dramatic Society

William S. Davis was elected President of Loyola's Dramatic Society. Thaddeus C. Slwinski will be Vice-President; Harold A. Molz, Secretary; James E. Hicks, Treasurer. The one-act farce, presented on last Loyola Night, "Still Alarm," will be given for the USO at an early date. Due to the graduation a recasting will be necessary.

Mendel Club

Frank Faralno, of the Senior Class, was recently chosen to head the Mendel Club, with Harry Chase filling the office of Vice-President. Sam Dagostaro is to serve as Secretary. The board of officers was completed with William Roth as Treasurer, and Joseph Boggio as Sergeant-at-Arms.

Bathon Wins Vice-Presidency Of New Student Council

Sullivan Is Treasurer; Leary Secretary; Pins Given Grads

The Student Council elected its new Vice-president, Secretary and Treasurer at its first meeting of the second semester, Tuesday, February 2nd. Daniel Bathon polled enough votes to become Vice-president, while Tony Leary, sophomore class president, assumed the duties of Secretary, and Michael Sullivan won the position of Treasurer.

Rector Speaks at Meeting

The meeting was held in the Rector's office with Robert McElroy, newly installed President, presiding. Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., President of Loyola College, spoke to the members concerning the precedent set for them by the past councils. He stressed the importance of carrying forward the great work already accomplished. Father Bunn said:

"We must strive to keep going ahead, never faltering. If we slacken now, all the work of the past four years will be for naught and it would take years of hard work before the Student Council could become a vital organization again. I am confident that this new group can come up to and even surpass the standard set by past Student Councils."

Dr. Edward A. Doehler, Professor of History, was unanimously elected lay faculty representative to the Student Council, a post he has held since 1940 when the Council was organized. Paul Connolly, president of the Bellarmine Debating Society, was appointed chairman of the Social Calendar. His chief job is to keep a record of all social events sponsored by the school.

The new Vice-president, Daniel Bathon, is an outstanding participant in extra-curricular activities at Loyola. He is President of the new senior class and Prefect of the Senior Sodality, captain of the track team, member of the Circulation Department of THE GREYHOUND. Tony Leary, newly elected Secretary, is president of the new Junior class, a member of the Sodality, and an intra-mural athlete. Michael B. Sullivan, treasurer, is columnist for THE GREYHOUND.

Awards Given Graduates

Awards were given to some of the members of the Council who graduated on January 31st. To be eligible for an award, a Student Council pin, a student must have served two years on the Council, or have performed one year of outstanding service.

All told, sixteen members comprise the Student Council. They represent the Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman classes, as well as all the extra-curricular activities. The members in addition to the officers are: Edwin Steffy, Jerry Connolly, Aloysius Galvin, Edward Pazourek, Bob Chartrand, William Auer, Harold Molz, Charles Strickroth, John Woytowicz, Dick Molloy, Frank Farabee and William S. Bavis.

Loyola French Club Enters One Act Play Contest

According to a recent announcement by Father Joseph Donceel, S. J., French Club moderator, Loyola College will be represented in a play contest sponsored by the Maryland College for Women. In a letter Father Donceel received from the play contest director, the play must be a one-act production, written by French Club students and the roles taken by club members. The contest is to take place on neutral grounds and will be judged by an impartial board picked from the various schools in the contest.

Five Colleges Entered

Thus far, Loyola, Goucher, Notre Dame, Mt. St. Agnes, and the Maryland College for Women have entered the competition. A silver cup will be awarded the winning school.

French Club members at Loyola have already submitted several themes and work will soon start on the actual production. Father Dun-ceel will supervise the writing of the scripts and will select the cast.

Scholastic Press Meets At Mt. St. Joe

Greyhound Will Send Delegates; Molz To Address Meeting

Tomorrow, February 20th, the Rev. Paul Gibbons, moderator of THE GREYHOUND, and twelve staff members will attend an all-day press conference at Mt. St. Joseph High School, Irvington.

The purpose of the conference is to honor Catholic Press Month. Loyola College will meet with representatives from other Catholic colleges and high schools of Baltimore to discuss problems of journalism and exchange ideas on school publications.

Invitations have been sent to Notre Dame of Maryland college and high school, Mt. St. Agnes college and high school, Loyola college and high school, Seton, Institute of Notre Dame, Mt. de Sales, Girls Catholic, Towson Catholic, Culvert Hall, St. Martin's, Trinity Prep, and the Father O'Connell Press Club.

Father Division to Speak

The meeting will begin with Mass, to be followed by a talk at the first session by a noted Catholic journalist—the Rev. Joachim Reardon, editor of Preservation of Faith magazine.

Following this meeting the delegates will gather at sectional panels. Harold Molz, editor of THE GREYHOUND, will speak at the college sectional meeting. His topic will be "Scholastic Journalism and the War Effort."

Panels are also planned for year-book staffs, staff photographers and staff moderators. The Rev. Paul Gibbons will represent Loyola at the moderators' conference, and Charles S. Lerch, Photo Editor of THE GREYHOUND, will sit in on the photographers' session.

Round Table Discussion

In the afternoon, following lunch, there will be a round table discussion on the topic, "This is Something We Have Tried in Our Publication." The proposed chairman is Miss Marcelline Shen, editor of Notre Dame Columns. At this symposium, each editor will make contribution as to what his particular publication is doing to further general subscriber appeal.

Dancing and movies will conclude the conference.

The Rev. Brother Martin John, C. F. X., of Mt. St. Joseph, is in charge of arrangements for the conference.

Dr. Charles Bagley Praises Liberal Arts Training

By Maurice E. Murley, '44

"Training in the liberal arts is invaluable in the study of medicine, as well as in other professions. Modern trends have not reduced the advantage of a firm foundation in the classics and philosophy." This statement was voiced by Dr. Charles Bagley, Jr., prominent Baltimore surgeon, in a recent interview. It is of special interest these days because of the threatened extinction of the liberal arts colleges resulting from an increased emphasis on technical courses.

Training and Achievement

Dr. Bagley began his brilliant medical career at the University of Maryland where he received his M. D. in 1904. Loyola College presented him with an A. B. in 1911, and it was during this period that he received the training in now so highly recommended. From 1906-10 he was Medical Superintendent at the Hebrew (now Shady) Hospital in Baltimore and from 1913-14 Assistant Resident Surgeon at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston.

Neurological Specialist

Dr. Bagley was engaged in general and neurological surgery during 1913-17. The last war found him a member of the subcommittee on ophthalmology of the General Medical Board of the Council of National Defense, in which capacity he gained valuable experience in his specialized field.

Society Memberships

Down the years, from 1910 to 1941, Dr. Bagley has published almost thirty papers on various subjects ranging from: "Cerebrospinal Meningitis" in 1910 to "Care of the Unconscious Injured Person" in 1941. Belonging to a "club" when you are a surgeon does not necessarily mean being a member of a purely social organization; in Dr. Bagley's case it means being a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons; Baltimore Medical Society (President, 1930); Society of Neurological Surgeons (President, 1931); American Medical Association; American Neurological Association; Southern Surgical Association and the Southern Medical Association.

Modern Medical Science

Speeches in medicine as well as in other professions, seems to be the order of the day. The modern pre-medical student looks beyond the years of intensive training that he spent in the day when he can hang out a sort of mystic "shingle" that marks him as a "specialist."

Full Time Job

To the average layman it would seem that surgeons would think about retiring when they reached the age of sixty. Not that it is beyond anyone to do a good day's work at such an age—but the work seems so intense. Dr. Bagley smiled at the thought and remarked that at present he had at least ten patients in various hospitals throughout Baltimore.

Rev. Fr. Rector Addresses 1st '43 Assembly

Asserting that "patriotism demands that colleges give the nation the best possible leadership,"

Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S.J.

Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., outlined the keynote of the third quarterly assembly in the school gymnasium on Monday morning, February 8th. In a forceful address, Father Bunn called the present "the day of the survival of the fittest" and maintained that students "can no longer hide behind the crowd."

He said that today as never before an individual is a marked man marked by character and achievement on records kept by his school or employer which give a true picture of what can be expected of that person.

Gov. Joseph A. D'Ignazio, S. J., Dean of Loyola, announced that the scholastic average for the college this quarter was 78.12.

Dean's List Published

The following students are placed on the Dean's List of Distinguished Students for having attained an average of 85 per cent or over in each and every subject for the second quarter ending January 18, 1943:

Seniors: Thomas E. Charnwood, Frank J. Feldt, Charles E. Hennell, Frank Edward Horka, Joseph J. Hussman, George W. McManus, Eugene L. Miles, George J. Miller, Jr., Francis J. Mueller, James L. Nuss, Herbert R. O'Connor, Jr., Samuel L. Schurf, Jr., John A. Wiegand.

Juniors: Charles V. Blitell, Barkley Fritz, Angela Nastasi, Edwin T. Steffy, Norbert B. Wagner, Charles M. Weiss.

Sophomores: William S. Bavis, Harold A. Molz, Roman A. Pasko, Charles Vitello, William W. Wright.

FRS. HERLIHY, CAWLEY TAKE FINAL VOWS

At a ceremony held in the college chapel Tuesday morning, February 2, 1943, Father James Cawley, S. J., and Father William V. Herlihy, S. J., took their final vows in the Society of Jesus. The vows were received by the Reverend Edward B. Bunn, S. J., president of the college.

Drawing its solemnity from the fact that the perpetual vow is the most binding of all those taken, this ceremony stands as a final consecration of the individual to his priestly duties.

Father Cawley Is Filipino

Quiet, soft-spoken Father James Cawley came from Zamboanga in the Philippine Islands and taught in various Jesuit schools before the outbreak of the war. Recalled from Manila, he was brought to the United States and appointed to the Loyola faculty last September as a teacher of Spanish and Mathematics.

Father Herlihy

Father William V. Herlihy, whose mother and sister came from New York to witness his final vows, originally came to Loyola in 1940 after a year at Asheville, N. Y., to teach a special course in Freshman Religion.

At present he is Dean of Discipline and a professor of Greek and Religion.

Loyola And War Theme Of '43 "Evergreen"

Bound in a deep green cover of padded leather and displaying a circle of twenty-three gold stars above the national emblem, The Evergreen, annual senior yearbook, made its first mid-term appearance in Loyola College's history.

The general theme of the book concerned the present world crisis and the position of the college student in relation to the war. In keeping with this theme the senior pictures were arranged in a "V" shaped style, while one page gave special display to the Service Flag and the ship's lamp, the latter a donation of the graduating class.

Tribute Paid Rogers

Following the senior pictures is a photograph of Harry Lee Rogers with a fitting tribute paid to this first member of the Class of '43 to lose his life as a result of the war.

The book itself is dedicated to Father Arthur A. North, S. J., student counselor at Loyola before he was commissioned a chaplain in the United States Army.

January Graduation:

To the "old grads", graduation day is associated with temperatures hovering about the 90 degree mark, and with the usual complaints about heavy and uncomfortable gowns and books. Quite different was the January 1943 version, with its snow and sleet. Many members of the Association were seen at the various activities of the day, beginning with the mass at St. Ignace Church and ending with the reception held in the Library Building in Evergreen.

The Class of '12 will remember its baccalaureate mass held in the basement of the Calvert St. Church. Quite different was the picture on January 31, in the newly painted St. Ignace. One feature that will be long remembered was the excellent staging of the celebrant, Rev. Charles Ruach.

A tradition begun in 1942 was also happily continued this year.

Dr. Edward A. Doehler

The success of the Alumni-Graduate Communion Breakfast held last year at the Stafford Hotel prompted the arrangement this year for a similar affair at the Belyvedere. Ask an Alumnus who was there and you will learn what you missed. Father Ruach was most generous with his memories of 1907, and eloquent in the point of rocking the microphone. Monsignor McAdams, after an inspiring sermon at the Mass, added words of valuable advice to the graduates who were soon to enter the armed services. Our ever welcome Alumnus, Charles Bouchet of the Class of 1897, oldest living Alumnus of Loyola, had his usual cheerful message to the boys who were to put it, "celebrating their June Week in January." To the limited number present, the breakfast was a most agreeable gathering. Next year let's make it a real gathering of the Association. Plan now to get your class out!

GREYHOUND Scholarship Drive:

In the letters that have been coming to the Alumni Desk since the last issue of The Greyhound, a general willingness to help in furthering things done at Loyola is regularly noted. Taking you at your word, the Editor of Alumni Doings asks the members of the Association to read carefully the article and editorial in this issue on the Greyhound Scholarship Drive.

FR. HEARN, FR. McMULLEN ADDED TO FACULTY

Two new professors have been added to the teaching staff of Loyola College. The new members of the staff are Father Anthony J. McMullen, S. J., and Father Joseph R. Hearn, S. J. Father Hearn has already begun his classes, and Father McMullen came Saturday, February 6th, to take up his duties.

Father McMullen From Woodstock

Father McMullen is from Woodstock College, Maryland, where he has been teaching logic and epistemology. Men of the Jesuit order, from the New York-Maryland Province, take their Philosophy and Theology at Woodstock. The course which Father McMullen has been teaching at Woodstock is now completed—so he has been assigned to Loyola. He will teach Sophomore and Junior Philosophy here and will teach a special course at Woodstock on Saturdays and Sundays. At one time Father McMullen was stationed at the Ateneo de Manila, a Jesuit house of studies in the Philippine Islands. Father McMullen was ordained at Woodstock.

Taught at Calvert Street

Father Hearn, the other addition to the teaching staff of Loyola, has for the past few years been Treasurer of St. Ignace Church, Calvert and Madison Streets, Baltimore.

Father Hearn was ordained at Woodstock in 1931. As a scholastic he taught at Loyola when it was on Calvert Street, at Brooklyn Prep, and at Georgetown University. At Georgetown he taught Mathematics and Physics. Father Hearn will teach Freshman Mathematics and assist Father Delaney in the physics department.

Jubilant Gives Rare Volumes

Mr. Albert R. Hoen, who received a Gublen Jubilee Medal at Commencement, has presented Loyola with two very remarkable books. The books are a translated copy of "The Badlanus Manuscript" and an "Atlas of the Historical Geography of the United States." Both volumes become a part of the College library.

The books were printed and lithographed by the A. Hoen & Co., Inc., of Baltimore, Md. The company is one of the oldest and most prominent lithographing concerns in the United States. This concern makes the plates for the National Geographic Magazine's maps.

The original of the Badlanus Manuscript is in the Vatican Library. The book is an Aztec Herbal of 1552 and is considered America's first medical book. It was written by an Indian doctor and is a compendium of medicinal plants and native remedies of the Aztecs at the time of the conquest of Cortez. The original was a gift to Charles V and is dedicated to him.

The research for the Atlas took twenty years and was conducted by the Carnegie Institution of Washington and the American Geographic Society of New York. The Atlas is "the first historical atlas of the United States and probably the most comprehensive work of its kind that has yet been published for any country."

STARS-IN-STRIPES

By Bill Smith

On Sunday, January 31, Loyola College lost one of the greatest athletes ever to don the Green and Gray, when Barney Goldberg received his baccalaureate in Science. Ten days later he enrolled for the Marine Corps Rec at Parris Island, North Carolina where he will take a course of instruction which will lead to the gold ten of a second Lieutenant.

Before coming to Loyola, Goldberg distinguished himself on the court while playing for Calvert Hall High School. In 1938-39 he was a star on the teams that went to Chicago to play in the National Catholic Championships. He received a great honor in '39 when he was named on the All-American Catholic High School team, and the same year Calvert Hall received the award for being the best coached team in the country, advancing to the semifinals.

When Barney came to Loyola, he continued his court career by assuming a shortening berth on varsity tries for four years. His favorite trick was to tempt his opponent out of position and then pass the ball to a team mate or take a shot while his opponent was thus off balance. Barney was primarily a floor man, although he was an excellent shot, and he served as the keyman on this year's squad. Last year, he racked up 129 points to finish fourth among Greyhound courtmen. Constantly in good condition, he seemed to be able to run all night without tiring noticeably, and he usually played all but a few minutes of every game. This amazing stamina will serve him to good stead in the branch of service of his choosing.

This year, Barney was leading the scorers in the Mason-Dixon circuit and was apparently heading for his best season.

Barney Goldberg

Goldberg ran as a miler for the track team last year and was showing signs of developing into a first class trackman before the season was over. Up to last year, he was a mainstay on the soccer team, playing outside right on the attack. This year however, he gave up soccer to devote his entire time to basketball.

This past fall he played on the Fighting Irish touch football team and his passing and kicking was a great asset to carry his team into the final play-offs where they lost to the sophomore Huskymasters.

Thus with this fine sports record behind him here at Loyola College, Barney Goldberg is the type of fellow to make a fine Marine Corps officer. He will be sorely missed on the basketball and track teams, but right now he gives the old "college try" to the armed services, so watch out you Japs!

SWINGOLOGY

By John E. Boerner, '43

Hi ya, Cats,

This week, as usual, we find that ever popular field of swing still jumpin' along. The latest reports have it that Captain Glenn Miller has been transferred from the Flight Command at Maxwell Field to the Technical Training Command in Atlantic City where he will start a program for service music which will revolutionize military music in this country.

He plans to establish a dance unit of 17 glazes at each of the technical training behls all over the country with a musical training unit at each one. He will attempt to inculcate into the hands the same mastered level that made his dance band the country's top commercial outfit for three years.

Spivak Hits High

Undoubtedly the man whose band deserves the title of the most progressive band of 1942 is Charlie Spivak. During his recent engagement at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York, Charlie has broken all attendance records, even the top one, set by the popular Glen Miller a while back.

About two weeks ago he played a one-nighter at Convention Hall to the amazing attendance of 7000 people. Glenn Miller, being present, was given a horn and sat in with his old trombone section, now under Spivak's guidance in one wild version of Count Basie's "One O'clock Jump" which almost brought down the rafters.

One of the greatest assets to the Spivak aggregation was the addition last summer of that great alto sax man, Willie Smith, formerly of the Jimmie Lunceford crew.

Charlie at the present time is about to switch to recording on Victor records instead of Columbia. He is also going to accept a picture contract from a Hollywood studio and will soon be West-coast bound.

Band Briefs From Here and There

That hep little chick, Helen O'Connell has recently left Jimmy Dorsey to walk down the aisle. It is also reported that the Jump King of Swing, Count Basie is soon expected to follow suit. Frank Dobey's famous Membership has been closed because of the influenza and Aubrey is now opening the "Town House" in Newark, N. J. Jimmy Dorsey will christen the new live live of Aubrey's for three days before his winter engagement at the Pennsylvania. Tommy Dorsey is currently building a new band call to replace the Bird Pipers; they will be probably known as the Sentimentals.

I saw the Fall of the Philippines by Colonel Carlos P. Romulo. A story of our tragic loss in the Pacific, written very dramatically by ex Manila HERRALD editor Romulo, personal aide to General MacArthur. Colonel Romulo pulls no punches in attempting to show Americans that the fall of the Pacific paradise was due almost entirely to lack of supplies and reinforcements.

Mr. Morely has done an admirable job to foster British-American goodwill in his book, Tharofurr. Through the characters of Geoffrey Barton and his uncle Dan, the great similarity between Americans and Britons is painted most expertly. A city in the novel, Chesapeake, is really Baltimore in disguise, where Geoffrey played in such familiar spots as Druid Hill Park.

The Sea-Gull Cry by Robert Nathan. This is the story of two European war refugees, Louisa and Jeri, living in a house boat off Cape Cod. Although the tale carries with it a praise-worthy note of optimism for the future, the plot lacks any great depth of feeling to hold the reader's attention.

Periodically We See:

Fortune, January, 1943: Air Navigation for Global War. The new Spherographical System of celestial navigation devised by Drury A. McMillen has completely revolutionized the navigator's job of plotting the course of his plane. The entire procedure takes but ten minutes, and has been fully approved by many American engineers. This article will be of interest to many college students who plan to become aerial navigators.

The Modern Schoolman, January, 1943: Inter-racial Justice by John LaFarge. Here is a capable exposition of the principles of inter-racial justice for the attainment of order, written by a man well versed in his subject. The rising problem of racial differences in Baltimore make this article interesting to Loyola students.

The Road to Victory by Francis J. Spellman. An authoritative summary of the principles of Christianity in their relation to a truly just peace is presented in Bishop Spellman's new book. The main feature of this work is that it is written for the layman.

Aircraft Carrier by Lieutenant R. A. Winslow, U. S. N., recounts the past history of the role aircraft carriers have played in recent years. This book has been written to show that aircraft carriers are practical weapons of war.

The Problems of Lasting Peace by Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson. A very comprehensive analysis of the faults of the last peace and suggested corrections for the planning of our next peace.

The Rev of St. Mark by Maxwell Anderson. Another war play without the usual emphasis on the tragic slaughter of man. Here is the story of an American soldier who remains loyal to his fiancée, until death separates them permanently.

As I sat down to write this column my heart was heavy and gay. Here I was, home with a typewriter and bent on throwing any humor or ethics which I may have had to the winds. Not for long, though. Ye moderator happened into the office and was stealthily peering over my shoulder. With a loud scream he tore the paper from the typewriter. "You can't write stuff like that," he shrieked. All my protests were in vain. Smearing nastily he brought out his new blue pencil which he acquired from a local howling alley. While I sat tearing out my few remaining hairs he went gleefully to work with aforementioned pencil. Finally he said with a devilish gleam in his eye, "Here, heh, heh." With that he dashed nimbly out of the office. The following is what he left untouched: "Well, so long until next issue."

We were very pleasantly surprised to hear that Dr. Pan Yumowski will accept the position of Professor of Bulgarian Wandering here at Loyola. He succeeds Dr. Athanasius Yak who resigned to accept a commission in the Swiss Marine Corps Reserve. Dr. Yumowski gained world-wide recognition several years ago by his treatise, "The Effect of Hindustani On Modern Naval Warfare." Another addition to the faculty is Muhammad Ben Oumrah, who will teach theology to our Muslim students. His text will be the standard Islamic Illustrated K'araa.

The Loyola athletic program has been expanded by the inception of the pug stick team. Last week the new team hoped to Mt. St. Agnes where they landed Coach Aggie Smutzgiggin's Battlin' Britsers a heavy setback. They hope to repeat next week when they meet the strong Notre Dame of Maryland Bouncing Behemoths coached by Esquerebba Baumtoomey. The University of Bangkok is also on their schedule. The squad is singularly fortunate in having as its coach, Cy Dawson, formerly Kangaroo Keeper of King Zimzyx of Zululand. When approached by The Greyhound staff representative for a statement, Coach Dawson, modestly said: "Yak nabuh in Mt. St. Agnes yougie goodsnap." At this, the team members, who had been quietly drooling among themselves in a far corner of the room burst into gales of delighted laughter. Dr. Dawson speaks only Zulu and a jargon Amharic.

We are delighted to announce that Bob "Flash" Chartrand, popular doctimes coach at Loyola, will give a series of lectures on "The Part of Doctimes in the War Effort," at the Loyola Open-Air Auditorium on Cold Spring Lane. Simultaneously with the announcement of this course came a statement from the War Department saying that those who successfully complete it will receive commissions as Corporal's Abbs upon graduation. Mr. Chartrand is quite in demand in local sports circles. He received the following letter from the headmistress of St. Rosephine's Academy for Unfortunate Girls recently. "Dear Mr. Chartrand, We have received information via our grapevine that you have quite a bit of literary ability. We are willing to take a chance. We would like you to take charge of the ST. ROSEPHINE SPORTS BULLETIN. This also entails the coaching of our pards, wrestling and quids tennis. Really, the girls went simply wild when we announced that we were going to make the offer; in fact, ten are in the infirmary now as a result of rather nasty ebbs on the head received from the guards."

The third annual Mason-Dixon Conference Basketball Championship will be played at Evergreen beginning with afternoon and evening games on March 4th and concluding through semifinal games Friday the 5th in the evening, and reaching their climax on the evening of March 6th.

Eight Top Teams To Compete

As in previous years, the teams participating will be decided by the league standings at the end of the season. The eight teams ranking the conference will then meet to decide the champion. Washington College, dominant in league play at this writing, and Western Maryland, twice champions of the Hounds will probably be the pre-

Don Freiart Senior Manager Replaces Frank J. Feild

In an impressive ceremony in the gymnasium on February 4, Frank Feild handed over the reins of the senior managership of Loyola athletic teams to Donald Freiart for the coming year.

Freiart Speaks To Squad

As his first official duty, Don told the cagers of his pride for being offered the opportunity to serve his college, his coach and his friends, stressing his first purpose to act in his new position, he singled out Frank Feild for just praise. Frank, he said, had been the perfect manager as Coach "Lefty" Reltz later substantiated, and it was his resolve to continue the fine record which Feild had ramplified.

Trackmen Prep For C. U. Meet

After a long lay-off Loyola's track team today returned to action and the boys seem enthused and very anxious to begin. With the coming of the good news of the Catholic U. Indoor Meet at the Fine Arena in Washington on March 8, Captain Dan Ballou and Manager Bob Martin called the boys together.

Veterans Return This Season

Returning from last year's team, which was the first really organized team in recent years are Dan Ballou, sturdy quarter-mile; Bob Moser; Harry Chase; Dick Clark, star sprinter; hurdler, Larry Schmitt; and distance men, Clayton McKenny, Jim Ball, Jim Hunter and Chesley Daniel. Tom McCall, who was an outstanding worker two years ago is resuming work after a year lay-off. Among the newcomers Bill Rothell, dash man and quarter mile from Mt. St. Joe, and miler John Pastek are the most experienced.

In the Catholic U. meet last year the Greyhounds ran a sprint relay team in the Mason-Dixon Relay, had a special match mile relay with St. Peter's of Jersey City and St. Joseph of Philadelphia and had men competing in the 880 yard handicap run. This meet plus the Southern Conference Meet at Chapel Hill, N. C. made up the indoor schedule last year.

Terrors Topple Green And Gray In Fast Game

By Bob Martin

Loyola's spunky Greyhounds were defeated February 10 at Evergreen by a superior Western Maryland team which had the advantage over the opponents in both size and experience. The youthful Greyhounds, three of whom had started only one previous game at Loyola, battled desperately throughout the game before going down by a score of 54-35.

First Half Close

The Green and Grey fought Western Maryland point for point throughout the first half and part of the second before the Terror defense tightened. During the opening session the two teams were never more than five points apart with Loyola taking everything that Western Maryland could give. At the end of the period the boys from Westminster were ahead by a 20-15 margin.

Hounds Conquer Redbird Quint In Thriller

Loyola, in winning its first game on a foreign court this season, chalked up a 57-53 victory over an Improved Catholic U. team in a thrill packed overtime tussle on January 28.

Catholic U. Takes Early Lead

With the Cardinals snatching an early lead which they maintained until 16 seconds before the end of the fray, the big Green team was hurried, harried and hampered in its desperation to keep Coach Reltz's record against the Washingtonians unblemished. Paced by Dick Scanlon and Fred Rice who scored 20 and 14 points respectively, the Redbirds enjoyed a 26-19 lead at half time.

Greyhounds Late Rally Successful

Stretching their margin to ten points at the opening of the final stanza, the Cardinals apparently had but to freeze the ball to win handily. However, Barney Goldberg, Franny Bock, Carroll Feeley, Jimmy Nouse and Joe Huesman who were concluding their inter-collegiate play were not to be denied. With nine points remaining, Loyola was awarded a technical foul and Carroll Feeley was selected to try the conversion. Successful, the redoubtable Carroll sank an outside shot which put the Hounds in front for the first time. Charging back, Freddy Rice was given two free tries but failed his second to send the ball game into overtime. It was Feeley who put the Hounds ahead and C.U. retaliated but Franny Bock, Wish Galvin and Ed Pazourek clinched the issue while the Cardinals added a final field goal.

Block L to Hold Initial Meeting

Harwood, Linthicum, Dyer Will Be Guest Speakers; Officers To Be Elected

The newly organized Block L Club of Loyola will hold its third meeting on Thursday night, February 25th at 8:30 P.M. in the recreation room of the gymnasium. Due to the accelerated program's mid-term graduation, there will be the elections of a new vice-president, secretary and treasurer for the new regime and appropriate business will be discussed.

Famous Guests To Appear

As was the custom of the other meetings, guest speakers have been invited for the occasion and heading the list for the evening will be Mel Harwood, well-known coach of the United States Coast Guard ice hockey team at Curtis Bay, whose charges presently lead the Eastern Hockey League. Mr. Harwood formerly played goal for the ill-fated Baltimore Orioles and before his enlistment, refereed in the same league. Bill Dyer, Loyola's favorite sports announcer, and Jesse Linthicum, dean of Baltimore sport scribes and sports editor of the Baltimore Sun, have also been invited to speak.

Football Picture To Be Shown

Following the elections and speeches, there will be movies depicting highlights of the past football campaign not to mention the ever welcome refreshments. Athletic Association president, Ed Pazourek, extended an invitation to all members, alumni and friends to make next Thursday evening's festivities a big success.

Natators Streak Snapped By Blue Hens

Entering the meet with a record of nine straight victories, Loyola's swimming team had their streak broken at Evergreen by the University of Delaware, 38-37 on January 22. Prior to this match the Greyhounds had been undefeated over a period of three years.

Delaware took an early lead and although the Greyhounds finished strong they were unable to overcome the total points chalked up by their opponents. Despite the fact that Loyola won a greater number of first places, five out of nine, they did not have the necessary strength to get the required points in seconds and thirds. Freshman Bruz Daitley and the Steingass brothers, Hank and Eric accounted for most of Loyola's points but they received good support from Leon Greenbaum, Don Connor and Jim Oaster. Harvey Funk, visitor's backstroke star, set a pool record in the 150 yard event in 1 minute 50.2 seconds. The old record was held by his brother, a former Delaware swimmer.

The natators, coached by Hank Steingass will next meet LaSalle College in Philadelphia on February 26.

Emil G. Reltz, Jr.

tournament favorites with Randolph-Macon, remodeling an unknown quantity despite their record in conference tilts thus far.

Tickets On Sale Now

Coach "Lefty" Reltz announced that tickets may be purchased either through his office or college representatives before the game. A special student offer has been made to all college students and persons eighteen years and younger to attend the afternoon session on March 4th. These tickets sell for 25 cents while regular tickets for the afternoon tilts will be 50 cents. All evening contests' tickets will be 75 cents and may also be purchased at the door. Special evening tickets for students will sell for 45 cents.

Loyola Triumphs Over Hopkins

By dint of a working spree that opened toward the close of the first half and turned the second session into a rout, Loyola's basketball team turned in a convincing 12-23 win over Johns Hopkins on January 19th at Homewood.

Jays Impressive For Half

The Blue-jays, pregame underdogs, startled Green and Gray followers by seizing the lead and holding it for nearly the entire first half. Shooting from the outside, Bud Thannhauser, Reige and Zheutlin hung up an 8-3 lead mid way in the period but the Hounds found the nets in time to forge to a comfortable 18-13 lead at the half. At the final whistle, the speedy Hounds had maintained their lead to win going away, 42-23.

Running With The Hounds

By Bob Chartrand

On January 31st Loyola College conferred degrees upon six men who might have been a part of any larger student body with distinction. These same men performed with a skill on the basketball court that bespoke of the excellent coaching they had received, but above all of unusual competitive ability. Barney Goldberg, Franny Buck, Carroll Feeley, Jim Nouss, Joe Huesman and Franny Mueller were outstanding both on court and off, but they have gone. Many fans, because of such a costly loss in both experience and scoring punch, have started selling our Hounds short. Local columnists have apparently hopped on the "Good-Bye Greyhound" landwagon in an attempt to pass over in silence what they must consider as the demise of a once powerful quintet. The only way to defeat these crepe-hangers is to tell them simply and quickly that we still hold our eagles as one of the most dangerous teams in the league. We even will stick out our neck in the extent of predicting that certain professional "Gunny Gas" scribes are going to swallow some of these remarks before the end of this season.

Here are the main reasons for our prediction. Coach "Lefty" Reitz knows basketball and basketball players, which can be substantiated by men who have played under his tutelage and fans who have seen his teams play. He has been introducing new faces into the line-up which means that "Lefty" is on the move to build up some measure of confidence in the frosh members. Moreover, he has been stressing conditioning for all the squad which will be very important under the pressure of championship play. So much for what "Lefty" has done and is doing. Gene O'Connor has come a long way in ball-handling since the start of the season and his set shot has always been the dream of any coach. Paul Trovato is getting faster every out and he may match "Okie" from the outside come the tournament. There is no need to mention the steadying influence that Ed Pazourek brings into the game with his floor play and his rebound mastery. "Wish" Galvin and Val Lentz have been improving with each game with the fresh president set shots marking him as dangerous and Val's push shot from inside coming along nicely. There are some of the fact, but are they important for the Loyola fans.

For the first time in 16, these many years, Loyola College is faced with the prospect of supporting a basketball team that cannot be looked upon as being virtually unbeatable in its class. Students here at the college and cage fans throughout the state have come to look upon any Greyhound quintet as a factor to be reckoned with on the hardwood. Writers for daily papers and in colleges have heaped praise after praise on the individual floor play of some of the greatest cage stars in the business who have worn the Green and Grey with distinction in the past and brought countless championships to their alma mater. But those days may be gone forever unless the student body is prepared to support their team as they have never done before.

In the first place, no team, even the best, can afford to lose players of the calibre of Barney Goldberg, Franny Buck, Jimmy Nouss, Carroll Feeley, and Joe Huesman without experiencing a let-down. These men played hard and well to guarantee Loyola College a place in the coming Mason-Dixon tournament and they have succeeded but they can assist no more. The future lies in the hands of those men remaining and the college which they represent. The question is how much are you willing to give in order that your team be successful for you?

Any fan who saw our eagles tangle with Washington College after less than a week of working as a unit, or saw them battle Western Maryland to a standstill for three quarters of a game will tell you in what measure they should be repayed.

In the second place, Coach "Lefty" Reitz has been working long and hard with his charges to assure a representative team and by what we can only call a touch of genius, inspired his men with a spirit and determination that has been both effective and contagious. When the Green team has taken the floor, the stands have been cheering as they never had before. Finally, the men on the varsity are fully aware of the terrific odds against them and realizing that they must go into conference championships as underdogs, they have been improving faster than even the most rabid Loyola fan could have hoped for.

There is the picture as we prepare for the Mason-Dixon tournament on March 4th, 5th and 6th. "Lefty" and your basketball team need your boisterous and whole-hearted support. There can be but one answer from a Loyola man.

Wrestlers Drop Second Match Of Campaign

Loyola College's exponent of the grunt and growl lost their second meet of the current campaign to Delaware, 26-11, on January 22 preliminary to the Greyhound-Blue Hens basketball game. Their previous loss was at the hands of Hopkins to the tune of 26-10. In both meets the Hounds won two out of the first three bouts but lost out in the heavier weight brackets, mostly because of inexperience.

Joe McDonald, wrestling his first year in intercollegiate competition, lost to his more experienced opponent after a trying tussle. Jimmy O'Hare and Leon Krieger both won convincingly in the 128 and 136 pound classes respectively. Woody Anderson, captain of the Green and Grey, in one of the best battles of the evening threw his opponent in quick fashion. In a knock'em-down-drag-'em-out tussle, George Baker was pinned after holding an early advantage. In the 165 pound class, Bill Rathell who had but one previous collegiate bout, lost to his opponent, who won the Mason-Dixon title last year. Carrying on in the upper weight divisions were the veteran Bill Smith and freshman Bill Hollis. Smith fell victim to a body press in the second period while Hollis, out-weighted thirty-five pounds by his opponent, put up a game fight although hampered by his inexperience.

Junior Jerks Trim Manglers

Rebounding from the gruelling grind of mid-year examinations, the intramural quintets resumed action last week. In a fast, hard-fought game, the Junior Jerks upset the dope by conquering the highly-touted Mangler five, 10-6. Russ Cronse paced the victors while Cory Walker scored all of his team's points. In another game, the Bottlewashers won easily from the Super-Scientists, 18-12. Larry Thaler and Thaddeus Puh starred for their aggregations.

Lonely Hearts Who

In previous games, the Lonely Hearts overwhelmed the Hushers, 27-12. Don Freier's left hand was good for nine points while Bill Hollis, a recent addition to the B squad, racked up 6 points for his team. In one of the more thrilling games, the Osiriches eked out a 20-19 victory over the Tuggarts with Charley Taggart and Gordon Mueller leading the vanquished and victor respectively.

Tournament Planned

Plans are now being drawn up for an intramural tournament. The dates, although held as tentative, are set for the 4th, 5th and 6th of March. The regular league schedule will be complete with each team's fifth game with the championship contest set for the preliminary spot on the evening of the Mason-Dixon Tourney Championship game.

Sho'men Five Nips Hounds in Close Contest, 33-28

By Percy Walker

Bucked to the utmost for their fighting spirit by their three hundred loyal student followers and friends, Loyola's Greyhounds went down to defeat but not disgrace on Saturday night, February 18th, before the faster, more experienced, surer-shooting Washington College five at Evergreen.

Douglas Doublet First Half

The Greyhounds led by small margins throughout most of the first half, and it wasn't until the closing minutes that Washington found itself and went into a 14-8 lead at half-time. Franny Mueller, Ed Pazourek and Paul Trovato, starting their first game for the Green and Grey, just didn't know when they were licked. Gene O'Connor and Wishy Galvin, the two freshmen who have made good this year, completed that fighting five. You couldn't have heard a hound drop so great was the excitement which the home team brought from the crowd.

Sho'men Fight Back

Blawie, Yerkes and Captain Sangle kept the Shore team in the game, even though it appeared they might crumple before the Loyola avalanche of fight and spirit. So near were they to defeat that even their coach had to come out on the floor to argue their cause; a thing unheard of as far as our coach is concerned. There were no halfhearted shots on our team. Mueller played on stamina alone and with a little more luck on shots might have swung the tide. The same goes for big Ed Pazourek, the popular Black-L Prexy. Paul Trovato and Gene O'Connor were all over the floor, while Wishy Galvin and Franny Mueller gave the favored Red team the fits on rebounds.

Terrors Topple Hound Quint

Terrors Pull Ahead

After play was resumed three fast field goals by Pazourek, O'Connor and Trovato tied the count. But here Loyola seemed to fall apart as Lee Lodge and Captain Nemo Robinson widened the lead to thirteen points as a result of the fast break that Western Maryland utilized to good advantage. Loyola grew more desperate but found that they were unable to phrase the Terror defense. Coach Lefty Reitz then sent in his second team and with the final whistle the visitors had clocked up a nineteen point advantage.

Big Ed Pazourek was a hotwork on defense, several times breaking up the Western Maryland rallies. High scorer was Gene O'Connor with 12 points. Speedy little Izzy Trovato, Franny Mueller and freshman Wish Galvin played well in supporting roles but could not bring victory in Loyola.

Loyola Events Score

The Green and Grey came back quickly, snorting under the pressure which Washington had turned on just before the whistle. They cut the lead down until they were all even at 17 and again at 18. Then Blawie led the Sho'men into a 31-28 lead with but four minutes to go. Here the Loyola fans thought that the Hounds were going to do it. This observer's hopes were high until Mueller's and Big Ed's shots "ruined the hoop" with Washington snatching the rebounds. Then Blawie put the game on ice with a lay-up from Jerry Volth. However, the Hounds were still fighting but to no avail as Washington finally flipped off with a hard earned five-point victory.

Team Great In Defeat

Many fans and this writer believed that the Hounds were greater in defeat than they have ever been in victory. They knew the odds, and also knew that Coach Lefty didn't have any replacements, as they had played with nothing but their spirit and what ability they had. So our loudest go to that fighting Green and Grey and a team of which the school can be truly proud.

Delaware Bows 61-42 To Hound Courtmen

The Greyhounds of Loyola scored one of their most impressive victories of the Mason-Dixon Conference basketball season by defeating the University of Delaware at Evergreen by the score of 61 to 42 on January 23rd.

The contest never was too close after the first few minutes during which the team took turns at holding the lead. Loyola ran up a small lead, then whitewashed it and at half-time was on top, 31 to 22.

Goldberg Leads Scorers

One of the main factors in the Greyhound victory was their support unit on rebounds, with Franny Buck and Jim Nouss hearing the greater part of the burden. Barney Goldberg was a big gun in the attack, throwing in ten field goals and three foul shots for a total of twenty-three points. Carroll Feeley and Gene O'Connor also carried on in fine fashion. Goldberg not only was high scorer but on several occasions broke through to stop rallies of the Blue Hens. Delaware's star center, George Barlow, was outstanding until he was hampered on four fouls in the second half.

Toward the end of the game Coach Lefty Reitz took the opportunity to try some of his second string, who are carrying on after mid-year graduation. The boys did well considering their experience and size. This lack of size of several of the reserves is a great handicap since they are fast, tricky and clever ball-handlers.

BOND AND STAMP DRIVE NEARS HALFWAY MARK

By Wm. Alton McCarthy

With so many Loyola undergraduate students as well as alumni now serving in the country's armed forces, it is only fitting that we who are fortunate enough to be able to remain in college cooperate in whatever way possible in order to help in the nation's war effort.

For this reason, THE GREYHOUND, acting as the Loyola Voice For Victory, has inaugurated the Greyhound Victory Drive. It is intended as a means to make the student body war and victory conscious.

The means which we on the home front can use in order to help our armed forces are assured of victory are many and varied. The new Victory Drive is designed so that every member of the student body can do his share for victory, no matter how small.

Greyhound Takes Lead

THE GREYHOUND has taken the lead in its new victory drive and a new committee which will take charge of the various activities has been appointed. Robert E. Chartrand, Sports Editor of THE GREYHOUND, has been named General Chairman, and Father Paul Gibbons, S. J., Professor of English and Speaking, has accepted the position of Honorary Chairman.

Recently the amount of War Bond sales was greatly increased when George K. Brennan, Greyhound reporter and new super bond salesman, sold a five thousand dollar War Bond.

The committee in charge of the sale of War Bonds and Stamps has reported a total number of sales which now amount to more than twenty thousand dollars.

Bushmasters Give Blood

Paul R. Connolly, chairman in charge of the Blood Donor Committee, has announced that on February 10th, the Bushmasters champion intramural football team, visited the Red Cross Blood Donor Headquarters, there to do their share for victory. The members of the team are Nick Bolgiano, Dick Clarke, Luther Karst, Hayes Kernan, Dick Knauer, Clayton McKenney, John McMillan and Bob Moser. This has brought the total of Loyola donors to well over fifty. Several other teams are expected to follow suit.

Book Drive Proposed

The new Victory Committee is expected to propose a book drive in which the student body will be requested to donate any books, fiction or otherwise, which they may have available. These books will be collected under the able direction of Donald Frelert. They will be sent to the various army camps with the compliments of Loyola College students.

John R. Williams, Office Manager of THE GREYHOUND, has announced that the office will do its bit for victory, and he is now directing a search for old photographic cuts, which will be turned in to the Scrap Drive.

Student Body Thanked

We, of THE GREYHOUND staff, would like to take this opportunity to extend our thanks for the genuine spirit of cooperation which has been manifested by the student body. The students have entered wholeheartedly into the school's plan to aid the war effort. Every call for volunteers, no matter what they have been asked to do, has been answered with an enthusiasm for which Loyola can be proud.

Loyola Men Challenged In Blood Donor Drive

If each newspaper across the breadth of the country would devote its columns to propagandizing the civilian war effort, the battle of the home front would be half won. That is the ideal of THE GREYHOUND's "Voice For Victory" campaign. Here, in our own sphere—Loyola College—we seek to drive home the urgency of this appeal to the civilian.

Loyola is a great school; its students will respond accordingly.

The innovation of War Bond and Stamp sales met with gratifying results. However, the Blood Donor Campaign seems to have been forgotten by the student body. To date only 50 men have volunteered in this enterprise. Considered in proportion to our 407 undergraduate enrollment, the percentage is regrettably slim.

The time has come for Loyola to start rolling!

all a Loyola man needs, is to be told what is wanted of him—then he acts. The American Red Cross has made its appeal: blood plasma to sustain the flow of life in our fighting men.

This is one of the times that we can test the sturdiness of that bridge from hearing to doing. Loyola men have heard the challenge thrown to them; now they will act!

Recent additions to the Victory Honor Roll were the names of Loyola's intra-mural football champions, The Bushmasters.
